

A "Jewel" Of A Cat
-- Is Sorely Missed read!!!

A 2 year old, slightly-built, fixed, female Siamese indoor cat slipped out of the house unnoticed while I was rushing bags to the car to get to the airport.

Puuulea~~~~~eee help find her!

(I'm not sure if she's got an embedded chip. Let's assume not).

Her name is "Jewel", and she responds to: "Jewel", "Jewels", "Julie", "Julie-Jewel" ... when spoken softly. She's a dark chocolate Siamese with slight tiger markings on her shoulders.

This is her first time outside, so she's probably extremely afraid by now. Her replies to you will come with a very small squeaky voice ... so please listen closely.

Lost mid-block Colgate Avenue at approximately 5pm
Saturday 2/21/09.
